How Hayes' Financial Measures were Received by N. Y. Bankers.

Prominent bankers speak warmly in praise of the financial recommendations in the president's message The clause that called forth their heartiest approval was that in which the retirement of legal tender notes was advocated. They pointed out the difference between the report of the secretary of the treasury and the president's message which reflected, they said great credit upon the latter document While bankers are of one mind upon the main question of cancellation of legal tender notes, a great diversity of opinion was found to exist among them as to the proper time and method of securing the desired result. One wished the notes funded immediately into bonds bearing a low rate of interest; another advocated retiring them by fixed amounts annually while he doubted the expediency at this time of agitating the matter.

New York Stock Market.

NEW YORK, Dec 1—Governments were generally weak, especially for new 4s, which declined 4ths. This decline was due to the announcement that the secretary of the treasury asks for authority to proceed at once to the refunding of bonds of 1881 in 4 per cents the holders of '81 to be credited with the difference in interest The railroad bonds are regular. A sharp bear attack was made on the stock market at the opening of business and prices declined from one half to six per cent, the Hannibal and St Joe preferred, [illegible] and coal stocks, Erie and Southwestern shares being also prominent in the downward movement. Towards midday there was a sharp recovery by an advance from the lowest point, ranging from a ½ to 4 per cent The leading improvement during the afternoon market was irregular and toward the close the bears again succeeded in depressing the general list from ½ to 3 per cent Later [illegible] in final dealings however [illegible] slight recovery

The movement of tonnage from domestic [illegible] points during the past month amounted to five vessels registering 6386 tons, against three vessels of 488 tons in the corresponding month of last year. The total movement this year thus far are 48 vessels, measuring 70,660 tons, a decrease of a trifle over 10,000 tons, which may be credited to the railway system of contracts as well as [illegible] and equally low route, as far as [illegible] concerned, via Panama. The engaged [illegible] and committed to this trade [illegible] 14 vessels, registering in the aggregate upwards of 23,000 tons Of these it is [illegible] probable that the last six vessels will [illegible] during the current month, not in [illegible] two vessels loading with railroad [illegible] for Portland

American Sympathy for Ireland.

CHICAGO, Dec. 1—A meeting of artisans was held at McCormick hall which broke up at a late hour, the purpose being to express sympathy with the people of Ireland in their present agitation for relief from oppression of non-resident landlords There was an immense audience in the large building and many hundreds were unable to obtain admission. The Irish American element constituted a very large portion of the audience although some of the most prominent Americans of other nations occupied seats on the platform and among the auditors Speeches were made by Hon. Thos Hoyne, Lieut Gov Thurman, Leonard Seville and others, all in a [illegible] tone, but expressed the deepest interest in the posture of affairs in Ireland and predicting that a benefit to the working classes of Ireland would eventuate from present disorders An address was issued to the people of the United States embracing in strongest terms the ideas expressed by the various speakers. It alludes to the difficulties under which the Irish people labor in procuring a living, to the hardship which the present system inflicts to legislation hostile to their interests which has been enacted to the numerous instances of personal cruelty to tenants, to the decrease in population by famine and exodus and to the gloomy situation of to-day It calls attention to the better land laws of other countries and protests against the attempt of Lord Beaconsfield to prevent the last means left them to secure redress by agitation It asks that the United States offer its effective aid in assisting the Irish people to accomplish a peaceful revolution against the landlord interest supported by Lord Beaconsfield It says Mr Parnell and his colleagues have proposed a just and sensible method for a desired betterment of affairs, and the American people are pledged not to remain deaf to the appeal for sympathy and reform The Irish people are urged not to allow zeal to outrun discretion and are, in conclusion, assured of support not only of the people of the United States but of the civilized world

Parnell Coming.

BOSTON, Dec. 1—A meeting of citizens was held here to-night to take measures for greeting Chas. S Parnell upon his arrival here The original committee appointed by Irish citizens, who have resolved to receive Parnell at Faneuil hall was increased to sixty and includes the names of many distinguished citizens.

Financial Status of the Erie Railway Co

NEW YORK Dec [illegible]—The Telegram has the following: At the Windsor hotel at [illegible] at a late hour last evening it was rumored that James R Keene had stated that the Erie Railway Co was $700 000 short of the sum necessary to pay interest due in a few days on its bonds At the last named [illegible] Keene's [illegible] word were [illegible] and a document purporting to be in his own handwriting was shown of which the following was a copy [illegible] statement which will soon be published will show a $700 000 deficit towards the payment of interest on its bonds Keene was subsequently sought at the Albemarle hotel where he is now living, but in reply to a reporter's card he sent word that he [illegible] A communication was sent to him in writing to the effect that [illegible] was quoted as saying that Erie was short $700 000 on its interest due shortly and asking if it might be so stated on his authority? Keene made no reply in writing, but a reply came by the waiter, "No and you must not say so on my authority" None of the Erie officials could be found previous to going to press

Murder and Confession.

BUFFALO Dec 1—Captain Andrew McKenzie was arrested for the murder of Andrew Russell, on the barge Wilton last Friday He made a full confession of the crime to night and as was supposed at the time Russell was in his bunk when the captain returned to the barge and commenced to chaff the latter about his staying out with prostitutes ending his remarks with the statement that the captain's daughter was also one which so incensed the latter that a scuffle ensued and Russell threatened to kill the captain with a handspike whereupon the latter as he states attempted to reach the rail but finding his assailant closing upon him picked up the tongs and dealt him a deadly blow on the head After which he hid Russell's money so that it would not be found on his person if arrested and threw the latter's body overboard, together with his own bloody shirt and a number of other articles bespattered with blood McKenzie states that he only hid the money so that it would not be thought it was for robbery that the deed was done as he had no intention of robbing the old man

WASHINGTON CITY.

Forecasting the Business of the Session

WASHINGTON, Dec 1—Senators and representatives to day in discussing the outlook for the session generally agree that it is likely to extend into next summer that no very great amount of legislation will be accomplished but that each party will be kept busy watching the other and taking up as good a position as possible for the presidential year The policy of the dominant majority in both houses in regard to such matters as the proposed renewal of last year's contest over the election laws and upon financial measures like Warner's silver bill will not be settled in haste, nor without mature caucus deliberation concerning them It is not likely then, that any definite forecast can be made respecting these subjects until after the Christmas recess The annual appropriation bills are not expected to be reported very early this session but the house will be occupied for some time with the discussion of a thorough revision of its rules soon to be reported from Speaker Randall's committee, and with contested election cases—sixteen in all—which Chairman Springer promises to bring before the house for action this session with much greater promptitude than has been unfortunately the custom in previous sessions of congress

Another subject that will be brought forward for speedy action unless a resignation forestalls its main purpose is the impeachment of Minister Seward

The senate will shortly receive reports from the Ingalls and Kellogg investigations from the Wallace committee of investigation in Rhode Island and elsewhere and probably also from the Freedmen's Bank committee

It is apparent, therefore that neither branch of congress is in danger of running short of subjects for consideration, even if the transaction of ordinary legislative business be wholly deferred for a month or two

Possible Demands

NEW YORK Dec 2—The Tribune's Washington special says Senator Wallace said to night that there would probably be the usual formal caucus of democratic senators to morrow morning to consider the subject of membership of senate committees but that in all probability there would be no change and no other subject would be considered Several of the Pacific coast senators are anxious that their section should be represented on the committee on commerce It is probable that they will take occasion to make known that fact and endeavor to secure their end at this caucus A rule of the senate requires that all committees shall be newly appointed at the beginning of each session It has been thought that this occasion would be seized upon by silver men to renew the efforts of the removal of Bayard from the chairmanship of the committee on finance Several senators who were foremost in the movement against Bayard last session have [illegible] [illegible]

THE PROPOSED CANAL

General Grant will Enter Heartily into the Nicaraguan Scheme—Plan of Endorsement to be Solicited from Congress.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN]

WASHINGTON Dec 2—Grant has written a letter to a friend in this city concerning the proposal of European capitalists to take a large interest in the Nicaraguan canal scheme The general advises that congress be asked to incorporate the company because so vast a project will have higher credit in Europe if it has a national rather than state franchise He suggests the names of a considerable number of prominent citizens of high character and financial ability to be inserted in the act as corporators and thinks it advisable that this government shall obtain a new treaty with Nicaragua, not in the nature of concession of right of way which would be for the company to acquire but a treaty covering the whole project and guarding the use of the canal and the right of the United States to its use and protection Finally, in this letter, those who have seen it say that he declares himself ready to take a prominent part in the enterprise whenever these conditions are entertained Meantime, the project is to receive immediate attention in both houses

Gordon chairman of the senate committee on commerce will to morrow offer the following joint resolution for the encouragement of the construction of the interoceanic canal via Nicaragua

WHEREAS A project for the construction of an interoceanic canal via Nicaragua is recognized as a necessity for the prosperity of the commerce of the world and the development of the maritime and commercial interests of the United States, and

WHEREAS, such enterprise must of necessity be considered as of international utility and under the protection of the government of the United States, therefore be it

Resolved By the senate and house of representatives that the government of the United States pledges to accord full and entire protection to any company which shall be granted a concession by the government of Nicaragua for the construction of said inter oceanic canal and will secure to said company the peaceful enjoyment of rights conceded by such grant.

A similar resolution will be offered in the house by Ellis of Louisiana Under the rules of the house this must be referred to the committee on commerce of which Reagan of Texas is chairman and which it is believed will favorably report it to the house Thus there is a prospect that congress will employ itself upon at least one matter at this session which has no direct relation to parties or politics

THE WAILATPU MASSACRE

THE TRIAL [illegible] OF THE [illegible]

[illegible] Or Nov [illegible]

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

In the Daily [illegible] of the [illegible] [illegible] Army and Navy Journal [illegible] surrender, imprisonment [illegible] as the writer says of [illegible] at Oregon City in the year [illegible] of the article and your comments [illegible] I thank you for noticing [illegible] I served I know [illegible] author of the article may be [illegible] not stated facts [illegible] story he has [illegible] author [illegible]

I [illegible] Indians [illegible] [illegible] the barbarous [illegible] of Dr Whitman [illegible] and of the terrible suffering of the prisoners who fell into the hands of the Cayuses among them young women who were forced to become wives of the murderers of their fathers and mothers and other cruelties and barbarities too horrible to patiently think about But all this history is well known to the people of Oregon, consequently I will only write that which transpired under my own observation and the part I took in bringing the murderers to trial and punishment

At the time of the massacre I was in Mexico [illegible] On the 27th day of August 1848 I was at my home in Indiana when Col J Meek arrived at my house bearing in his pocket a letter from President Polk and my commission as governor of Oregon, and under the law ex officio superintendent of Indian affairs I left home for Oregon on the morning of the 29th the second day after Meek's arrival But before we set out he had [illegible] of the atrocious murders of Dr Whitman his wife and others at Waiilatpu and at many a camp fire on our way overland to this coast did Meek relate to us the horrors of the massacre of Whitman and others at the mission and frequently asked whether I would take steps to punish the Indians It is hardly necessary to say I had learned to keep my plans to myself consequently listened to all that was said, and made known to but few what I thought was best There were no troops in Oregon at that time nor could any reach there till in the fall when it was known the rifle regiment under Col Loring would arrive consequently my only chance for punishing the guilty Indians was by trying to prevail upon the better portion of the tribe to deliver up the most guilty for trial and punishment With this view I visited Mr Douglas and Gov Ogden at Fort Vancouver and without making known my plans got correct information about the upper Columbia Indians generally, and especially of the Cayuses, and found them ready to furnish any goods tobacco and other things proper and necessary as presents for Indians, and that a boat and good experienced boatmen would at any time be at my service to take me up the Columbia to the Indian country All this being arranged I returned to Oregon City, consulted with some of our good friends at that place about the chance of getting the tribe to give up the murderers And here I will with pleasure say that nowhere have I met or found a better or more civil or kind good people than in 1849 lived in and adjacent to Oregon City, and this I can say of the early pioneers generally and he who would cast a slur upon their good name is an unfeeling slanderer and wretch Well after full consultation with such friends I was advised to consult with Dr McLaughlin and Bishop Blanchet who they said could do more to aid me than any other persons, as they were better acquainted with them and could do more with them than any other persons could Gov Abernethy especially advised me to consult McLaughlin I did consult them both and agreed upon the kind of communication I would write making known the power and character of our government and the determination to make war upon them and destroy the Cayuse nation should they refuse to meet me and give up the murderers This communication was by Dr McLaughlin placed in the hands of a half-breed who could read and translate to the Cayuses and who delivered it and came back without a definite reply They asked for time to consider and agree among themselves and so the matter stood for a time But after waiting and finding no further reply I renewed the demand and just at this time the rifle regiment passed through their country on their way to Oregon City This fact no doubt made an impression on them, and they agreed that the next spring they would meet me near The Dalles and give up the murderers But in the intervening time I took care to make known to them that if the guilty were not given up before June, 1850, I would make war upon them—and so I would Col Loring was ready and a little anxious for the fray They finally agreed that they would bring the prisoners to The Dalles in May Accordingly I proceeded to Vancouver and procured a boat and hands to work it Lieut Addison with some ten soldiers were detailed to accompany me and to guard the prisoners

We met near the Dalles The principal chiefs and many warriors were of the Cayuse party I had Lieut Addison and ten men We held a talk arranged a peace and they delivered to me their old chief Tilokaikt and four subordinate chiefs and we took leave of the Cayuses, and with our five prisoners not (three) as stated by the writer for the Army and Navy Journal but five guilty, barbarous murderers stepped into our boat and we set out on our return to Oregon City down the Columbia and then up the Willamette I did not land them at Fort Vancouver nor were they kept there by the rifles or any other troops not for a moment We took them without loss of time to Oregon City and put them in a house on the island and furnished them with plenty to eat and took good care of them From the island they could not escape

The bridge from the main shore to the island was well guarded and the access to the mills from the water below were also well guarded At that time the island and the mills belonged to the writer of this and the hands employed were placed on duty as guards until Marshal Meek arrived and took charge of the prisoners At his request Col Loring detailed Lieut Lane with 20 men to guard the prisoners until the court could be convened to try them Judge Pratt presided and with much patience and care extended to them a fair and impartial trial Pritchett then secretary of the territory was on the side of the defence and was paid $500 for his services [illegible] and paid at Washington He [illegible] to acquit the guilty savages but justice prevailed and the five murderers were found guilty and were sentenced to die and were hanged and buried at Oregon City where then lived as good honest honorable and just a population as can be found on top of the globe I arrived in Oregon City on the 2d day of March 1849 and from that time till the guilty were [illegible] I did not for a day lose sight of my duty [illegible] murderers of Dr Whitman [illegible]

The Louisiana Lying Match Continues.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN]

NEW ORLEANS Dec 1—O. M Tennison testified regarding the election in the seventh ward in 1876 that names were erased from the books with pencil and the ballots of persons entitled to vote refused

Chas J Boatner testified concerning a meeting of the caucus committee at Seymour's office Blackstone was there and in presence of others told witness that he and several other members were paid by Louis J Souer to vote for Kellogg The members gave due bills for amounts so received This was done to make it appear as a loan in case of discovery Witness saw Blacks one sign an affidavit [illegible] be understood it.

J C Nicholls referred to in Blackstone's affidavit as receiving $100 for his influence for Kellogg, testified that the statement was false.

F Garrett who testified to the bribery in the election of Kellogg was cross examined and acknowledged that he had been in very bad odor in several places

Ex Gov Warmoth testified that he had been in both the Packard and Nicholls legislature at the time of Kellogg's election There were rumors of bribery but witness knew of no one who had acknowledged having received anything for their votes. Pinchback was running against Kellogg, and received a large majority of the vote Witness and his friends had resolved to prevent Kellogg's election by revolutionary means such as breaking the quorum but being unable to carry it out it was abandoned on the day of the election Witness voted for Kellogg and made a speech advising his friends to do so Gov Warmoth said he had voted for both Kellogg and Spofford so as to be sure he was right

The Gazetta d Italia one of the ablest of the Italian journals, publishes the following clear and accurate account of American politics Our readers may remember that the election for president of the United States is accomplished by an indirect vote. All the electors vote for delegates, who in their turn choose the president. As we have recently said, the new president is to be elected in June of next year, and the agitation for the selection of delegates has already become lively Several public meetings for this purpose have been held in New York The opposing parties are two—the republicans, who wish to maintain the present order of things, known popularly as the machine, (la macchina), and the democrats who desire to make broad and radical changes in this machine which they believe to be too old and worn out" It is exceptional to find in a European newspaper such a thorough comprehension of the great questions at issue between our two political parties.

Tennessee a Possible "Doubtful" State.

[From the Nashville Banner (Dem)]

Unless our leaders pause our state is gone A division now, and we need have no hope of carrying anything Everything will be lost Why cannot we agree to disagree for a little while? The recklessness of a few will entail misery on thousands Republicans unite with any one to pay the debt The same policy that elected Maynard will win for them again They are already laying their plans and whenever our stalwarts on either side speak boldly they see in that a hope Without division they have no chance But, remember we have only about 30 000 majority A division could not fail to elect republican state officials, and a strong chance for defeat throughout A small concession by either party a very little giving way by either, and we are safe Better, far better let the state debt rest for another election than put Grant or Blaine or Sherman in the presidential chair

The Vicksburg Herald regrets the defeat of the biennial election amendment to the constitution of Mississippi, and says "It is time for the people of every southern state to begin to trust instead of to fear the national government, and it is time for our elections to be so held that the whole world may look on and find nothing to condemn The idea of eternally treating the United States as an enemy is not only silly and cowardly, it is absolutely injurious To have adopted the amendment would have saved the state vast sums of money, and the people the great annoyance of annual elections About one election every ten years, in such counties as Claiborne and Yazoo, would be often enough yet the Bourbons have voted down the amendment and our elections will occur annually as before"

[New York Sun Dem]

Mr Bayard would be a very strong candidate The south would go for him solid Men in the northern states of secession sympathies old-time pro-slavery men and men who believed cotton was king, and who worshiped King Cotton, all such would be for him He belongs to the numerous class of highly respectable men—is good quite good, but when it comes to talk about actually electing him he is nowhere He would be nowhere near carrying a majority of the electoral votes Sherman could beat him Blaine could beat him General Hawley could beat him Almost any republican but Grant could beat him

Brotherly Affection.

From the Philadelphia Press Rep

Mr Speaker Randall declares that he didn't do it and that he was opposed to the extra session It was the naughty Blackburn and the scheming Thurman and the cunning Wallace who contrived it in order to [illegible] him for speaker and to shelve Tilden for president The machine worked [illegible] the latter result but killed Thurman in doing it [illegible] Wallace [illegible] smile on each other with true democratic fraternity [illegible] [illegible] to toe

GETTING UP A BOOM

Th e a Roman proverb the [illegible] wi h t a o metimes makes ev r s Th r r e a k s ften c isp la er ted r a is l persistent pred [illegible] e way f [illegible] pase r th er t [illegible] pl w a s umbered ever he [illegible] ome f the N w Y rk [illegible] ia y [illegible] eth i s ary Wh he iar agers des re to propose to get up a boom Perhaps [illegible] otherwise they s ail one trusty w be charged w th th fa s e f chan i the designated field whence he [illegible] a letter [illegible] length an [illegible] of the state [illegible] setting forth a vast and wide spread amount of public sentiment in favor of the [illegible] The real basis may consist only in the usual and off hand expr [illegible] of a few persons actually [illegible] with whom utterances are [illegible] leading questions along with the imag ined views of some other people who are presumed to be too good natured [illegible] straightway the winged words [illegible] the correspondent fly throughout the country and thousands fa in with the alleged new departure of public opinion and commit themselves to it fully and irrevocably An exchange characterizes this method as a triumph of imagination and says we learn thereby how contrary to a common maxim saying a thing is so will sometimes make it so

About the latest effort in the above direction however is the attempt to increase the favor with which General Grant's name is received as a candidate for the presidency by writing up a "boom" for him in some of the southern states and especially in Georgia and Mississippi and generally in other democratic states This effort, moreover is not confined to the New York papers but extends to Chicago and though it may be a matter of surprise it appears that the Times of the latter city is doing its share to impress the people of the north with the idea that Grant could carry the electoral vote of Georgia In a long article, contained in the issue of November 21st it gives the opinions of a half dozen Georgia democrats who are alleged to be in the lead of the Grant party in that state some of whom express themselves as astonished at the development of the movement among the democrats, and "feel sure that Grant would carry Georgia against any other candidate Another of these "boom" instigators says "Our leaders have for fourteen years kept us living in the smoke of a war that closed fourteen years ago The man who will dispel these clouds and bring us peace will get the people of the south That man is Grant" The Times concludes from these and similar expressions from a few other southern men that there is a great stampede from bourbonism and sees in it what it calls the birth of a new south and says its most significant phase is its favorable inclination toward Grant for the presidency"

Now were this sort of a boom to be relied on when election day comes, the country might indeed gather from it much whereon to base a hope that before long the south would cease to present a solid body of sectional antagonism to the north and to cling to the political ideas of organized bourbonism against the vigorous and persistent growth of more liberal and rational northern opinion. But no man at all read in the history of the politics of the southern states and especially of Georgia, during all or any part of even the last ten years will believe that "Grant would carry that state against any other candidate," or against any candidate whom the democrats would nominate The bourbonism of that state may in time "dissolve into the thin azure of the past," but it will not happen in a day or a year We very much fear the "Grant boom in Georgia is gotten up to order and is nearly all on paper

PARTY AND PRINCIPLE

Some of the democratic newspapers of California are scoring Gov. Irwin for his appointment of W F White, late candidate of the Kearneyites, to a prominent and lucrative position They declare that White is a renegade from their party, and point out that had it not been for his defection and that of his followers, the democrats might have been successful. But just when their support was most needed, they deliberately set up an organization of their own without the least hope or chance of success, but simply, as it seemed, to elect the republican ticket They claim that the action of Gov. Irwin in appointing White, is deliberately turning the knife around in the wound where it had been thrust by White and his party But the governor evidently feels that the last election is over and he is trying to curry favor with the workingmen for the next which is now an event of much more importance to him than that which is over As to settled democratic principles perhaps White is as good a democrat as Irwin The party is a good deal at sea on all important questions and it cannot hope to get any great foothold with the people until it is true to something and the people must know what that something is No party can ever have a permanent and general support unless it is based upon some principle which is clearly defined and which reaches out and beyond mere questions of expediency If the democrats had been true to themselves and to their party the southern confederacy would never have dared to drag the democratic banner into the mud of secession nor would the ravings of the brigadiers have ever been heard in the forty-fifth congress or in the special session of the forty-sixth congress. They might have retained all the power and popularity gained by their successes in 1876 and 1877 But they permitted a noisy and impudent faction to usurp all the authority of leadership, and as a natural consequence they now find themselves in a miserable minority so far as regards the favor of the people. A California exchange thinks that this attempt on the part of Gov Irwin to curry favor with the sand lot leaders is but part and parcel of the policy which is to be adopted by the national democratic party in the struggle for the presidency All the grand principles which have held true democrats to their allegiance through years of defeat and disaster are to be abandoned whenever it is necessary to induce the communistic organizations in all parts of the union to unite in hostility to the republican party It will be anything and anybody to beat the republican candidate They do not seem to see that a [illegible] on of the democracy with such elements can only result in driving all respectable law abiding citizens to the support of the republican ticket and in the utter [illegible] of the democratic party

TRADE MARKS

In Ju [illegible] congress passed a law [illegible] the registration of trade marks [illegible] be definite time and giving legal and equitable remedies for their protection for a term of thirty years with a right to renewal for a like period More than five thousand have since been registered and several hundred petitions for the privilege are now pending But the supreme court of the United States has in three cases decided that they find no authority in the constitution for federal legislation on the subject, unless it may be in pursuance of the d [illegible] g esp [illegible] pass la [illegible] to give full effect to trea [illegible] This point was [illegible] touched by the court We [illegible] the subject with most of the principal governments in Europe [illegible] upon the principle of reciprocity [illegible] statute [illegible] constitutional [illegible] Great Britain and Canada we have arrangements [illegible] reciprocal legislation [illegible] convention [illegible] the constitution wh h were [illegible] the trade mark [illegible] law [illegible] were [illegible] preme court holds that a trade mark has no necessary relation to invention [illegible] its association with patents and copyrights and as to the first it holds that the statute is not limited to interstate or international commerce to which alone the power of congress extends even supposing it relates to matter of commerce with which congress might deal within that limit The [illegible] so radical that it is scarcely possible [illegible] new trade mark legislation of general application to be framed by congress [illegible] its objections The subject is relegated back to where it was before the year [illegible] to common law rights and remedies and to those derived from separate state legislation

What is claimed to be a correct list of the members elect to the next general assembly of Virginia which meets to day, classes them as follows Conservative debtpayers 14 conservative readjusters 17 republicans white republicans (colored) total 40 House of delegates Conservative debtpayers 42 conservative readjusters 39 republicans white) 6 republicans (colored) 11 Portsmouth (a tie) 1 Matthews and Middlesex (in doubt) 1 total 100 On joint ballot leaving out the two doubtful seats there are 56 debtpayers to the same number of readjusters so that the 26 republicans hold the balance of power and by a combination with either faction of the democracy can dictate the choice of a United States senator besides the apportionment of the state offices which are to be filled by the legislative body

The reports all indicate that there is a very melancholy winter before the people of France The price of bread is high the potato crop is ruined by the blight and many vineyards will not yield sufficient to pay for gathering the few scattered grapes Add to this that the people of Europe generally are in the same fix and cannot therefore buy the thousand and one knicknacks which form the bulk of French goods exported and the outlook is seen to be gloomy indeed Some of us in this country are still inclined to complain of the dullness of the times but we are now at the hight of prosperity compared to the people across the water

The supreme court of California has settled the short term cases among San Francisco officials by confirming the order of the district court in favor of the workingmen's candidates The case of the tax collectorship was taken as a specimen and the decision covers the auditorship and the supervisorship in the third ward Both parties profess to be delighted at the settlement of the dispute

Italy is preparing to extend the suffrage to every citizen above twenty one years of age who can read and write Signor Salvatore Morelli a member of the Italian parliament has proposed that women who fulfill the legal qualifications required of electors shall be admitted to the suffrage

The official count of the vote of Nebraska gives Cobb (Rep) for judge 25 286 majority over Walker (Dem and 41 385 over Saxon (greenback) Other majorities [illegible] about the same This is a far larger republican majority than was at first reported

According to the annual report of the general land office, just issued, the homestead entries for the past fiscal year exceed those of any previous year for a long period The area taken in homesteads last year was 5 260,111 acres

CITY.

ARTICLES OF INCORPORATION.—Yesterday articles of incorporation were filed in the office of the county clerk of "Court Mount Hood of Ancient Order of Foresters, No. 6160," by Richard Martin, Wm. Pyle and Daniel Richards. The object and business of the court is and shall be to further the interests of the order generally and to mutually benefit the members thereof mentally, morally, socially and otherwise; also to purchase, hold and own in its corporate name real and personal property, and to take and make conveyances in and by its corporate name for its own use and benefit and for the use of the order generally. The value of the property of the court is now $250, consisting of personal property and money on hand, and the sources of its revenue and income are dues and contributions from the members of the court. The location of the court is at Portland.

COMMUTATIONS BY THE GOVERNOR.—Gov. Thayer has commuted the sentences of the following convicts in the Oregon state penitentiary: William Palmer, sentenced from Multnomah county for two years from March 4, 1878, for burglary, commuted to expire Nov. 19, 1879; John Clarke, sentenced from Multnomah county for two years from Feb. 27, 1878, for burglary, commuted to expire Nov. 27, 1879; Chas. Williams from Multnomah county for two years from March 1, 1878, for burglary, commuted to expire Nov. 4, 1879. The reasons for commutations in the above cases were uniform good conduct and on condition of waiving the right to gate money. Daniel Smith, sentenced from Clackamas county for 18 months from Oct. 3, 1878, for adultery, commuted to expire Nov. 29, 1879, for uniform good conduct, also to afford him an opportunity to obtain medical assistance in some hospital.

A NEW SET.—M'lle Mary Jane Johnson and M'me Rosa Ball, two ebony-hued damsels, whose reputations are by no means spotless, got on a big jamboree last evening. During the "jam" Mary Jane claims to have lost $5, and charged Rosa with having relieved her of that amount. Complaint was made, and these walnut colored maidens were both arrested and cast into the bastile. Subsequently Mary Jane gave bail and was released, but Rosa occupied a private cell at the city jail last night. To-day the cases will be investigated before Judge Stearns.

A THIEVING PRACTICE.—A traveling salesman from San Francisco about four months ago pawned a fine Swiss watch for $100 to a Chinese pawnbroker in this city. The timepiece was valued at $325. When he came to redeem it last Saturday he found that the movement had been removed and a cheap one substituted. He threatened to report the pawnbroker to the police, when the celestial produced the original works and had them replaced.

A. O. U. W.—Monday evening Industry Lodge No. 8, Ancient Order of United Workmen held their election, with the following result: Master workman, J. A. Childs; general foreman, Wm. M. Evans; overseer, Alfred Coggins; recorder, F. R. Wilcox; receiver, Dr. H. R. Alden; financier, Geo. F. [illegible]; guide, Chas. E. A. McBeen; inside watch, Geo. W. Taylor; outside warden, C. Stevens; trustee, Paul Labbe.

GOING TO VISIT VICTORIA.—A gentleman who recently arrived here from Victoria, and who is well informed in official matters, said to an OREGONIAN reporter yesterday, that Sir John A. Macdonald, of Ottawa, has decided to visit Victoria as soon as the Dominion parliament adjourns. It is altogether likely the governor-general, the Marquis of Lorne, will accompany Sir John on his visit to this coast.

FROM ASTORIA.—The following was received here at the Merchants' Exchange yesterday from Astoria: 3 P. M.—Southeast, [illegible]; raining; the Lurline left for [illegible] at noon with a load from the Eliza [illegible]; the Reader arrived down at 2 P. M. [illegible] load for the City of Halifax; [illegible] outside without a pilot; Nephat [illegible], probably Napier, is outside.

COMMISSIONS FOR ASTORIA MILITIA OFFICERS.—The following military commissions have been issued from the office of the secretary of state: Thos. Dealey captain, George [illegible] 1st lieutenant, Chas. Young and John [illegible] 2d lieutenants of the Astoria light infantry, Co. B, 1st regiment, 2d brigade, Oregon state militia.

A BIG LOAD.—The fine steamer City of [illegible], Capt. E. W. Spencer, arrived down [illegible] yesterday afternoon with the [illegible] load of the season, having on board [illegible] sacks wheat and a large quantity of [illegible]. Her cargo was 40 tons more than has been brought down by any other boat this season.

A FAIR.—The Congregational Ladies' Society will hold a fair and festival Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons and evenings of next week in the church vestry. Christmas goods of various kinds will be on sale at reasonable rates. Refreshments, musical and literary exercises, etc., will be furnished.

APPOINTED SPECIAL OFFICER.—Mr. Phil [illegible], at one time marshal of Portland, has been appointed by the board of police commissioners, a special officer. His beat is bounded by A and G and Front and Second streets.

HELD TO ANSWER.—Yesterday John Kelly had a preliminary examination before Judge Stearns on a charge of larceny in a dwelling house. Kelly was bound over to await the action of the grand jury, in the sum of $250.

CHARITY BALL.—We understand that the ladies of the Relief Society contemplate giving their annual charity ball during the week between Christmas and New Year. The day will be made known in good season.

ON TRIAL.—The case of state of Oregon vs. [illegible] Fairchild, indicted for the murder of Mrs. Barbara Hegar, was on trial at Oregon City yesterday. The case will probably reach the jury to-day.

ILL.—The numerous friends of Captain [illegible] Sloan, of the police force, will learn with regret that he is at present confined to his home. He has been off duty several days.

U. S. CIRCUIT COURT.—Judge Deady will deliver an opinion this morning in this court in the three cases known as the Dalles Mission cases.

Y. M. C. A. HOUSE-WARMING.

An entertainment will be given at Y. M. C. A. Hall on Friday, Dec. 5, at 7½ P. M. The programme will include some interesting novelties. Prof. Warren will perform some chemical experiments, including the burning of sulphur, charcoal, steel and phosphorus, in oxygen gas, being some of the most brilliant experiments known to chemistry. Wm. [illegible] will exhibit his phonograph. The management congratulate themselves upon being thus able to present this most wonderful of modern inventions to the public. Various sounds will be produced before the audience, and reproduced by the machine. Another novelty will be the Crystallino. This is a musical instrument consisting of [illegible] glass goblets, requiring two performers, and producing the nearest known imitation of Franklin's revolving "harmonica." The sustained tones have a purity and sweetness unequaled by any other instrument. Prof. Hudson will read. A male quartet, trained by Prof. Cook, will sing. Those who have heard them will need no second invitation. In their pianissimo passages their singing is very superior. An orchestra, consisting of piano, violin and violincello, will fill all interstices with music, and will also play for fifteen minutes before the regular exercises begin. The entertainment will close early and the audience will be invited to remain a short time for social enjoyment. Ice cream and cake will be served for 25 cents. The management are expending both time and money to make the occasion interesting and instructive. They desire to make the association known to the public as favoring anything that tends to improvement, religious, intellectual and social. Admission, one dollar; children 50 cents. Tickets at Morse's, Prentice's and Shanahan's. The proceeds are to go towards defraying the expenses attendant upon moving and fitting up the new hall. The public are cordially invited to patronize this entertainment and thus aid a good cause.

PERSONAL.

Capt. Felix Martin, of Victoria, is at the St. Charles.

Geo. H. Burnett, Esq., of Salem, was in the city yesterday.

Hon. Thomas Monteith, mayor of Albany, is registered at the St. Charles.

Miss Gertie Oppenheimer, daughter of Jos. Oppenheimer, Esq., is seriously ill of typhoid fever.

H. F. Thompson and wife were registered at the Grand Hotel, San Francisco, on the 27th ult.

Mr. G. M. Stroud, conductor on the O. & C. railroad, and one of the most popular men that ever swung a lantern or "punched in the presence of the passengaire," has resumed his duties after an indisposition of several weeks.

Prof. L. J. Powell, of Albany, superintendent of public instruction, was in the city yesterday and visited the school in Holladay's addition, East Portland. He will attend the Teachers' Institute to be held at Corvallis during the holidays.

Miss Georgie Woodthorpe is at present supporting Mr. Frank Mayo in "Davy Crockett." A San Francisco exchange of the 27th makes the following complimentary allusion to the young lady: "As Eleanor Vaughn, a great deal of praise is due to Miss Georgie Woodthorpe, who shows, though still young, a great advance in her profession and the indications of becoming in the near future a really excellent actress, when time and study have modified her present over-strained style."

The Walla Walla Statesman of the 29th pays the following deserved compliment to Rev. Geo. H. Atkinson: "Dr. Atkinson, of Portland, whose life appears to be devoted to the development of this western country, paid our office a visit on Monday last. His letters to the different papers on the coast respecting our vast resources and what can be done with them, are the best we ever read, and in themselves stamp the doctor as a man of great talent. We wish him the prosperity he deserves."

IN THE COUNTY JAIL.

The following prisoners are confined in the county jail:

A CHAMPION ROWING MATCH.

The backers of Leahy, the champion rower of California, and of Cotsford, the champion of British Columbia are arranging for a five mile contest for $1000 a side and the Pacific coast championship. Referring to the match, the San Francisco Call of the 27th ult. says: "The Leahy and Cotsford match will probably take place, although the former's friends are anxious to have Cotsford come to Portland, or, not consenting to that, row the race at Esquimault three miles from Victoria. The course at the latter place is said to be a bad one for a person not acquainted with it, as there are currents and rocks which none but one used to pulling there can hope to get get along without danger of losing a great deal of time."

Would it not be well for the officers of the Portland and Willamette rowing clubs to invite the contestants to row the race here? A finer five mile course than the Willamette offers from Weidler's sawmill to Ross' island and return, would be hard to find.

SALLIE ON THE ROSTRUM.

THE PRINCESS WINNEMUCCA HAS ENTERED THE LECTURE FIELD.

A San Francisco exchange of Nov. 27th contains the following:

Princess Sarah Winnemucca, daughter of the chief of the Winnemucca Indians of Nevada, lectured at Platt's Hall last night on "Indians." Sarah served as a scout on General Howard's staff during the recent Bannock war. She is also interpreter for the federal government. The stage scenery last night represented a forest. Captain Dave, Jerry Long and Charley, three members of Sarah's tribe, and employed as interpreters for the government, came down from Winnemucca on Monday, and sat at the back of the stage during the lecture. Sarah was dressed in full Indian costume. A head-dress of long feathers was fastened to her forehead by a bright red band, her long, jet-black hair falling to her waist. A bright buckskin skirt and cape were trimmed with beads and fringe of buckskin strips. A bead necklace shone around her throat, and a blue bead bracelet was worn around the right wrist. Bright red hose showed below the short skirt, and it might have been the pair of gaily embroidered moccasins worn on the feet that attracted the attention of the men in that way. Sarah's manner of speaking is most decidedly odd, and because of its oddity, attractive. The lecture was a literary gem, because a curiosity, valuable, however, because of historical statements. Sarah speaks English with gratifying fluency, yet has not a remarkable command of language. Her style interests, chiefly as the reflex of that of a peculiar class of people.

PREVENTING CRUELTY TO ANIMALS.

PORTLAND, Dec. 1, 1879.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

The November number of the West Shore, in an article entitled "Our Wants, says we ought at once to organize a society for the prevention of cruelty to animals.

We thank Mr. Samuel for noticing through his valuable paper the inhuman treatment inflicted upon the poor unfortunate dumb brutes, toiling as they do for man's necessity and pleasure, receiving for such service only the lash and the club. Such scenes are an offense to every right minded person, and such offenders should be punished to the full extent of the law.

There is now in existence in this city a society organized under the laws of Oregon to prevent cruelty to animals. Therefore if any person witnessing an act of cruelty to any dumb brute will make it known to any officer or member of the society, the offender will be arrested and punished to the full extent of the law. Respectfully yours,

W. T. SHANAHAN,
Cor. Sec. S. P. C. A.

SALEM, Dec. 2.

The board of managers of the state agricultural society met here this afternoon. The time for the state fair of next year will undoubtedly be set from July 24 to 8th inclusive.

The board of directors of the Oregon Pioneer association also held a meeting this afternoon. The next meeting of the pioneers will probably be held in Portland.

By looking to the wants of his customers, Mr. F. G Abell, the photographer, can and does give thorough satisfaction. One needs but look at his large display to be convinced of this.

THE GREAT HEALER RETURNED TO PORTLAND.

Dr. C. M. Wood, the celebrated magnetic operator, has commenced practicing at No. 145½ Third street, between Morrison and Alder streets; office over Olds & King's store, where he will heal the sick of all chronic diseases by magnetic treatment. Dr. Wood's marvelous cures have been published through THE OREGONIAN for the past three years, and have never been equaled by any other physician on this coast. Send for circulars of the most wonderful cures on record, made in Oregon and Washington territory. Office hours from 9 A. M. to 12 M. and from 1 to 5 P. M.

WM. SCHEFFLER'S ST. HELENA

SANITARY, VACUUM DISTILLED GRAPE BRANDY AND GOOD OLD EDGE HILL WINES.

Mr. Scheffler is sole proprietor of the principle known as the vacuum process of distilling, by which the fusil oils are left with the residue and not incorporated with the brandy, leaving it pure and free from all deleterious substances which does and must exist in all alcoholic liquors distilled by the usual process of boiling heat. California Physicians have pronounced their preference of it to all other. Doctor Cox, government revenue officer at Cincinnati, Ohio, says in his report, that after ten years' of close investigation he can safely say that very few, if any, pure wines or brandy are exported from the Old Continent to this. He has found none in his many analyses—that all are doctored before leaving France. The French Consul at Buenos Ayres writes home to his government that so much complaint is made there of the appearance of litharge and other dangerous drugs in all their French wines, that there is great danger of losing the trade of the Argentine States. Other proofs could be cited, were it necessary, to prove the superiority of the best class of California wines and brandy. Orders from responsible parties, addressed to Wm. Scheffler, or Geo. H. Beach, St. Helena, Napa county, Cal., will receive prompt attention.

SUICIDE.

A distinguished Scientist once said: "No man with a strong, healthy stomach ever committed suicide, yet many suffer the torments of the damned with dyspepsia, when a single bottle of DR. MINTIE'S ENGLISH DANDELION LIVER AND DYSPEPSIA PILLS will give relief, and, if persisted in, cure the worse case of this distressing trouble. This pill cures torpid liver, billiousness, sallow complexion, foul breath, sick headache, heartburn, pain inside and back, removes pimples from the face, regulates the bowels, is sugar-coated all guaranteed purely vegetable. It acts directly on the coating of the stomach and on the liver; is suited to any climate, wet or dry weather. Beware of imitations; genuine has only lion on outside wrapper. Price, 50 cents. Sold by all druggists. Hodge, Davis & Co., Portland, wholesale agents.

How to Save Money.

Instead of going to a doctor, if you have Bright's Disease, Diabetes, pain in back and loins, smarting, inflammation, calculi, brick-dust deposit, or any trouble of the kidneys or bladder, buy a bottle of DR. MINTIE'S NEPHRETICUM, the great Buchu Compound. It is the best prescription ever compounded for these troubles. Abrams & Carroll, Wholesale Druggists, say: "We regard Nephreticum as the best Kidney and Bladder Remedy in the market." Woodward, druggist, Portland, Oregon, says: "Everybody speaks highly of it." Childs, druggist, Portland, says: "Sold lots of it; it always does the work." Many have been cured of obstinate kidney complaints after the doctors gave them up. Sold by all druggists. Price $1 25. Hodge, Davis & Co., Portland, Wholesale Agents.

Sir Astley Cooper's Vital Restorative.

The great English remedy—has made more cures of Nervous Debility, Seminal Weakness, Lost Manhood, nocturnal emissions, lassitude, inability for mental labor, despondency, and such diseases as are induced by youthful follies and excesses, than all other medicines combined.

It is not a stimulant nor excitant, is perfectly safe to take, is not a quack nostrum, and produces results that are wonderful.

Price, $3 a bottle. Four times the quantity, $10. Buy a bottle. It will not disappoint you. Hodge, Davis & Co., wholesale agents.

John Goodwin and two others fenced up the stage road between Dayton and Tukanon, and when the stage came along informed the driver that he could not pass. The men, being armed, compelled the driver to return to Dayton. They were arrested on a charge of obstructing the mails and held to answer.

Last Monday sixty men with teams loaded with provisions, blankets and clothing left Walla Walla for the upper Yakima river, where they are to be employed by Harkness & Co. in getting out material for railroad ties and lumber for the N. White's Prairie Flower,

Taken before retiring, will insure a good night's rest, with an awakening in the rosy morn to health, courage and vigor. For coated tongue, bad breath, sick headache, or any disturbance arising from dyspepsia or torpid liver, it is without a peer. Its action on disease is entirely different from any medicine ever introduced, quieting pains almost instantly. The hue and cry raised against it by patent medicine men, who have foreseen in its advent the destruction of their nefarious business, and the thousands of unsolicited testimonials flowing in from all parts of the New World is a sure indication of its great merits. Trial size at all Drug stores. Half pound bottles 75 cents.

Why Will You

Allow a cold to advance in your system and thus encourage more serious maladies, such as Pneumonia, Hemorrhages and Lung troubles, when an immediate relief can be so readily attained. Boschee's German Syrup has gained the largest sale in the world for the cure of Coughs, Colds and the severest Lung Diseases. It is Dr. Boschee's famous German prescription, and is prepared with the greatest care, and no fear need be entertained in administering it to the youngest child, as per directions. The sale of this medicine is unprecedented. Since first introduced there has been a constant increasing demand and without a single report of a failure to do its work in any case. Ask your Druggist as to the truth of these remarks. Large size 75 cents. Try it and be convinced.

"LAUGH AND GROW FAT."

This ancient bit of advice is well enough for "spare" people, but how about those that are already too fat? What is to become of them? Sit still, and I'll tell you. After many experiments, extending through months of patient investigation and toil, the celebrated analytical chemist, J. C. Allen, has perfected and given to the world Allan's Anti-Fat. Thus far in several hundred cases this great remedy has never failed to reduce a corpulent person from three to six pounds per week. It is perfectly harmless and positively efficient. Sold by druggists.

WEDNESDAY MORNING, DEC. 3, 1879

BUILDING THE NEST.

Daisy Drummond's black eyes were flashing and her cheeks were crimson as she stood listening to what Miss Gypsum said:

"It's not true—not one word of it is true, and I won't listen to such mean, venomous slander!"

She had a sweet, ringing voice. She was a graceful girl.

Her face was joyous and piquant, and very pretty, with saucy eyes and a dimpled chin, and yet she was nobody but Miss Josie Gypsum's seamstress for the time being.

She had been sewing merrily away, singing little snatches of songs, feeling so gay and happy, and thinking with all her heart of Dick Kenneth, when Miss Gypsum came in to the room for a little chat with Daisy, that had turned quite naturally on Mr. Kenneth, whom Miss Gypsum had dared to asperse to Daisy's face.

"Well, you needn't look as if you were going to knock me down, Daisy. I'm sure I've only said what's the truth, and what everybody knows. Kenneth is a regular miser."

The crimson brightened on Daisy's cheeks, and she sprang up from her chair.

"It's not true—not one word of it is true, and I won't listen to such slander!"

Miss Gypsum involuntarily settled further back in her chair.

"Dear me! you needn't be so touchy about it, need you?"

"Touchy! I am insulted, and you shall not repeat such cruel gossip to me."

Miss Gypsum shrugged her shoulders.

"But suppose it's not cruel, but true kindness to tell you? I'm considerably older than you are"—

"I should say so!" flashed out Daisy, sarcastically.

"And have had more experience in the ways of the world," Miss Gypsum went on, discreetly ignoring Daisy's caustic little slashing, "and I tell you that when a young man of Kenneth's age begins to be as close and avaricious as he is—as everybody sees and knows—now, Daisy!—I tell you he will end by being too contemptibly stingy and miserly to live with."

"But I tell you he is not close and avaricious!"

"Well, then," and Miss Gypsum's eyes twinkled maliciously, "why is it that, on the salary we all know he gets, he never spends a penny on you? You never get an invitation to go on an excursion; he never gives you as much as a ribbon or a flower, and when the employes in his house contributed to the monument, he was the only one of a hundred who declined to give anything."

"That was his business, not yours," blazed out Daisy; "and when Frankie Walland lay dying of diphtheria, and his own mother could not endure the child's agony, and everybody else was frightened away, it was my Dick who watched three nights by the boy, and held him in his arms when he died—so, there now!"

"Oh, of course, that was very nice indeed of him! very nice! but when it comes to the money question, you'll find your Dick will not put his hand in his pocket. Mark my words, Daisy Drummond; you'd better stay as you are and earn your own dresses than to have your husband refuse to give them to you, and make you earn them, after all."

Daisy swallowed a host of furious words that came rushing to her trembling lips.

Then she took off her little white ruffled apron and rolled it up.

"Miss Gypsum, you can find some one else to finish your sewing. When you insult my betrothed husband you insult me, and I will not stay where you are."

So she went away, trembling with anger and pain, leaving Miss Gypsum dumbfounded, and perhaps justly chagrined.

Daisy's cheeks were still crimsoned when she went into the tidy little sitting room at home, where her mother sat.

"Daisy, what are you doing at home at this time of day? What is the matter?"

"That horrid Miss Gypsum! Such talk about Dick you never heard in your life! She dared to speak to me as if she were a privileged friend—the nasty, censorious creature! and I'll never, never set another stitch for her as long as I live!"

Mrs. Drummond's thin lips compressed themselves into an unpleasant line, and her forehead puckered itself into a fretful frown.

"You are such a rash, hot-tempered child, Daisy, and to think you've lost such a good payment, steady place as Miss Josie Gypsum's, all through Kenneth! I doubt if he's worth it."

Poor Daisy! Her heart gave a throb of discouraged pain.

"Why, I thought you liked Dick so well—I thought you knew I loved him so dearly, and do you think I will stand by and hear people talk about him—call him a mean, stingy, avaricious miser—and not say a word?"

Mrs. Drummond gave a little sigh that somehow made Daisy feel uncomfortably vexed.

"Well, Daisy, I suppose you know your own business best, but other people have noticed how—well, how very economical Dick is. On Christmas I really felt ashamed to be obliged to say that he had made you no present."

Bright tears were sparkling on the girl's lashes.

"Dick and I perfectly understand each other, and if I am satisfied, I can't see who else need worry themselves about it! I didn't promise to marry him for what he should give me."

"If you had I'm afraid you'd find yourself mistaken. Are you going to stay at home the rest of the day or going to Mrs. King's?" asked her mother.

"I shall stay at home and make my black cashmere."

And she was sitting in the sunny window, busy sewing away, a few minutes before dinner, when her brother came in, and flung himself on the lounge.

"I've just left Kenneth, Daisy. What a mean stick he is! I asked him to join our club and he refused—'Couldn't afford it,' he said. Rich, ain't it, mother?—only himself to support. Wish you joy of your love, Daisy!"

It was just the last straw on the camel's back.

Daisy rushed out of the room, the hot tears of vexation and indignation on her lashes.

"He's not stingy—he's not mean! He has his reasons; he is right in what he does, and I love him better than all the world. Only"

And the wistful shadow of that vague, troubled "only" was yet in her lovely eyes when her lover came to her that night, an unusual gayety in his manner, and, it seemed to her, an unusual tenderness.

"Shall you be busy to-morrow afternoon, Daisy?" he asked as they stood saying adieu. "Because, if you can spare the time I want you to take a ride with me out in the country a little way. You've never gone anywhere with me yet, dear, because I could not afford to take you. But to-morrow I am going to be a little extravagant. Will you be ready at 2 o'clock?"

A radiant light suddenly dispelled that vague shadow that had been hiding in her eyes all the evening.

"Oh, I am so glad! What a lovely treat it will be! Indeed I'll be ready."

She was thinking—loving, foolish little girl—that at last, at last Dick was silencing gossiping tongues.

And he was thinking—well, he did not tell her what; only when he took her in his arms and kissed her good night, it seemed to Daisy he never had loved her so well.

The country was regally beautiful in its fresh green robes when they drove leisurely out from the noisy streets that next day, Daisy looking like a blooming rose, with her happy, flushed face and shining dark eyes, and Dick so proud of her sitting beside him.

It was a happy ride, only it seemed impossible when Dick, taking out his watch, said it was supper time.

"And I am hungry as a hunter, Daisy. This fresh, pure air is a capital tonic for an inhabitant of the city. How would you like to live in the country?"

Daisy laughed.

"How wicked you are to tempt me with such a question! You know it has always been the one dream of my life to have a home in the country, and when I—when we—get rich, Dick, we'll have it, won't we?"

She flushed in her sweet confession, and Dick smiled in her sweet eyes as he reined in the pony at the roadside.

"I am going to get out here, Daisy, and ask the good people of this place to bestow a bowl of milk on us benighted travelers. Shall I tie the horse or will you hold her?"

Daisy preferred to hold her and Dick went in the low rustic gate, that Daisy thought the very loveliest she had ever seen.

She watched Dick up the gravel walk to the house.

Such a beautiful little Gothic cottage as it was, with bay windows, where ruffled curtains fluttered in the soft spring wind, where everything around was in such spotless order and savored so of home.

It was so sweet, so restful to sit there in the flickering shade cast by a tree, and when at length Dick made his appearance she had quite forgotten that it was milk they wanted.

There was a curious gravity on his face as he came out.

"I find the people here unusually hospitable, Daisy. We are invited in here to rest and refresh ourselves. Come."

Leaning on her lover's arm, Daisy entered the lovely little hall, with its pink and gray Brussels carpet, its hat-rack and mirror, its stairs carpeted en suite with the parlor, that opened on one side—a long room, into which Dick ushered her with an elaborate bow.

"And now, Miss Drummond, tell me what I shall order for you."

Then, at her look of astonishment and almost startled surprise, he suddenly caught her in his arms.

"Daisy, darling, this is the home I have been making for us. It is mine—ours, dear, ready and waiting for the hour when you shall be crowned queen over your kingdom. Now, you know, dear, why I have been so careful of my money. I wanted a nest for my bird."

And Daisy sank down in a lovely little maroon-cushioned chair and cried for joy.

Then they went over the delightful little "nest," where everything was in the most perfect taste and, as Dick said, only waiting, as was the pleasant faced girl in the kitchen, for the mistress to come.

And he led her back to the long drawing room, the rapturous tears so blinding her eyes she could scarcely see.

"Oh, Dick! Dick! I am not worthy of such a man!"

He kissed her as he took his seat beside her.

"I am the best judge of that, my darling. Here, take the ring. This is yours on one condition: that my wife drive me to our dear little home in a month."

And Miss Josie Gypsum actually has the audacity to call occasionally on Mrs. Dick, and is profuse in her admiration of Daisy's husband, while Daisy's mother and brother insist that they always so honored Dick Kenneth—such a persevering, prudent, prosperous man as he always was, such a model husband and provider as he is.

ANENT GRANT.

HIS PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDACY A BLIND—THE REAL OBJECT OF HIS AMBITION THE COMMANDERSHIP OF THE ARMY.

[Cincinnati Enquirer, Dem., Nov. 13.]

A representative of the Enquirer yesterday met one of the most prominent and influential republicans in the city, and had a talk with him about the Grant boom.

"It looks as though it was all going Grant's way, does it not?" said our youth.

"Not a bit of it," responded the P. and I. republican.

"Why, have you any doubt of his being the next nominee of the republican party?" queried our young man.

"Doubts!" was the response. "Why, I wish I was as sure of getting a million dollars as I am that he will not be the nominee. O no! No man will get the nomination this time without a hard fight. It may look as though Grant has the pull up to the very morning of the day of nomination; but then there will be a count of noses, and, if it is found that Grant has more votes than either Sherman or Blaine, there will be a pooling of issues that will lay him out colder than a frozen chisel. But it will not come to that."

"Why not?"

"Because, seriously, I don't think Grant wants the presidency again. He is merely using his candidacy as a blind to further his real design."

"What is that?"

"The commandership-in-chief of the army."

"I don't understand you."

"Well, Jim Blaine and John Sherman are both too sharp to let Grant walk away with the presidency. One, or perhaps both of them, will say to Grant, 'See here, old man, there's nothing in the presidency for you. Throw your strength to me and I will make it all right with you. I will have you made field marshal of the army for life, at a salary of $25,000 a year.' That will suit Grant to a T, and the republican party, too, you can depend upon it, for we feel the need every day of having a man of Grant's positive character at the head of the army."

"But won't Gen. Sherman object?"

"I think not. Sherman owes Grant a debt of gratitude for saving him at Shiloah. At all events the thing will be done, whether he likes it or not."

"Not if John Sherman is the nominee?"

"Why not?"

"Because he would hardly consent to seeing his own brother superseded in the command of the army by a rival."

"That shows," said the P. and I. republican, "how little you understand John Sherman's character. He is to-day by large odds the smartest, keenest and shrewdest politician in America; but he is as cold blooded as a fish, and, like Artemus Ward, he would sacrifice every relative he has in the world if they stood in the way of his promotion. Just stick a pin in this prediction: John Sherman or Jim Blaine will be the next president of the United States, and Grant will be made commander-in-chief of the army before eighteen months have passed over your head."

"You seem to have forgotten one thing," said our youth.

"What is that?" queried the P. and I. republican.

"Nothing but that the democracy intend to elect the next president."

"Oh, do, they, indeed! Well, I'll just make one more prediction, and that is, that at the next presidential election at least two of the southern states will go republican by a decided majority. Now, such being the case, will you kindly tell me where you are going to get the votes to elect your democratic president?"

While our young man was wondering where the P. and I. republican became seized and possessed of such startling information, that gentleman bade him "good-bye," and jumping on a street car was soon lost to view. Thinking the news was of the character of "important, if true," our innocent submits it to the public, and trusts to the future for its confirmation or falsification.

Mr. Moody says of Col. Ingersoll: "He is a clever man, but he is all wrong. He turns his back on christianity, and then rails at it as a falsehood. He tries to gauge the actions of God by the intellect of man, and I do not wonder at his unbelief. I do not condemn him; his unbelief is probably honest; but from my heart I pity him."

The oldest postmaster, that is, having longest held his office, is Edward Stabler, of Sandy Springs, Montgomery county, Maryland; he was appointed postmaster at that place on the 14th of December, 1830, when Andrew Jackson was president.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

Financial.

TUESDAY EVENING, Dec. 2.

The wheat market to-day is quiet, and no important change is noticeable so far as local transactions are concerned. There are holders who claim that every cental of good wheat in the state is worth $2 per cental, including what it would cost to sack it and put it on the wharf here; but those who must needs buy are loth to quote at more than $1 97½, and down to $1 95. Between these two extremes there will probably be found as near the true price as can be defined except by obtaining the circumstances and figures in each transaction.
